A Time

For everything there

. . . is a season,
and a time for every matter under heaven:

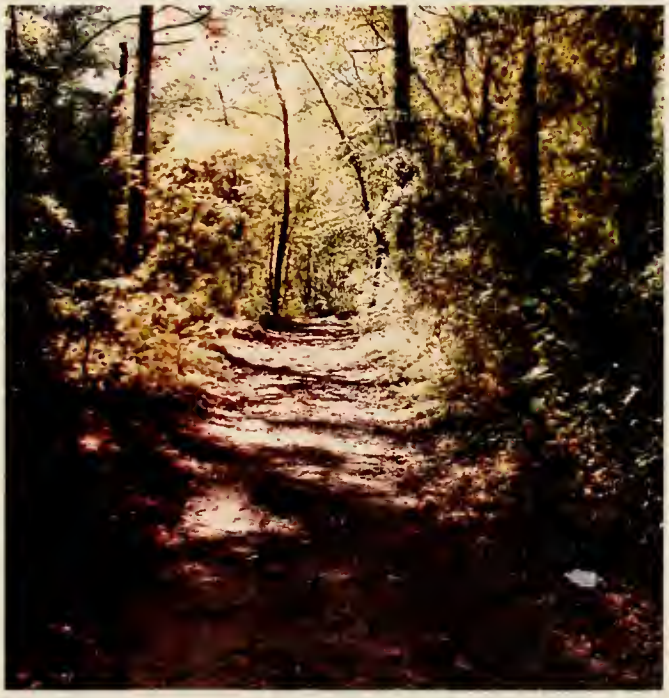
. . . a time to be born . . .

For CHANGE

. . . a time to plant . . .



. . . a time to seek . . .

EVENTS OF TODAY . . .

The "Year" book would not be complete without a review of several of the outstanding events that have taken place in the last year. Students at Gardner-Webb will remember the infamous "Don't Worry . . . Be Happy," as well as the 1988 presidential election, the Olympics in Seoul, Korea, and finally, the reinstatement of the space program after a two-year setback.

The Race: Tempers rise as the race for the 1988 presidential election draws to a close.

America dares to dream: A voyage of Discovery in memory of the Challenger.

Proud Recipients: In Seoul, hopes rise and fall for nations and athletes.

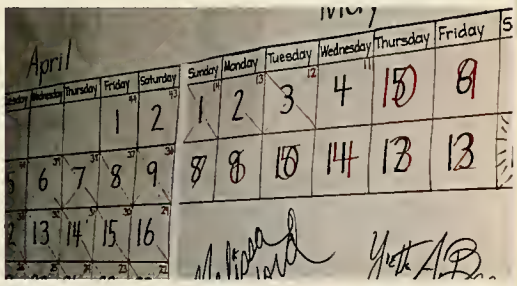
AND MEMORIES OF YESTERDAY

The morning was warm and humid; excitement and traffic congestion mounted at GWC as hoards of family and friends flooded on campus to get a prime viewing spot of the upcoming graduation. Awaiting the final moments of their long anticipated graduation, crowds of seniors trailing caps and gowns gathered, some laughing, others in tears, to make graduation practice a final reality. May 14 — THE BIG MOMENT — had finally arrived. Speeches, presentation of awards, and then the eagerly awaited walk across the platform to receive the official culmination of at least four years of hard efforts — the diploma. As ceremonies came to a close, many friends said goodbye and left to celebrate, either with family or with other graduates. The Final Steps had been taken and a lifetime lay ahead.

Proud moments are shared among friends.

Anticipation as May 14 moves steadily closer.



Fellow graduates remember the important people who helped them get this far.

Last minute preparations as the final countdown begins.

A TIME FOR ACHIEVEMENT . . .

The last two survivers.

Tonya Inus smiles in English.

Mr. Lutz finds a new way to sit in a desk.

Dr. Brown teaches class on the lawn.

IN ACADEMICS

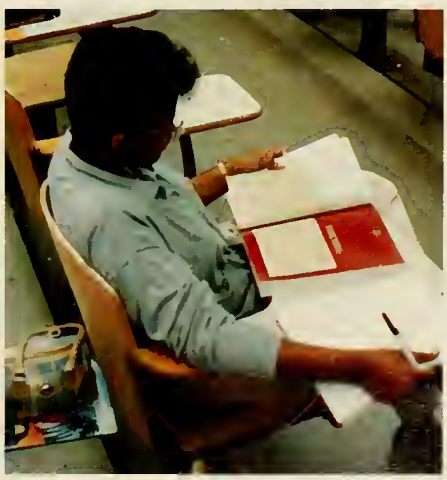
Dr. Eastman speaks for the Presidential debate.

Jimmy Ireton, Scott Koenig, and Melissa Roncoroni take advantage of the library for studying.

John Purrer crashes for a test.

Dr. Quinn begins the honors class.

Mike Campbell,studies the comics.



Just one more long class.

A Time For . . .

GWC

Excellence In Athletics

Gardner-Webb athletes practiced long and played hard so they could make their mark in the circle of champions and bring an air of excellence to our school.

"We'd be tough if we could get out of this fence!"

In Between Time

The green does not offer much potential when it is void of students. ↓

There are various aspects of college life such as academics, sports, and organizations. But, Gardner-Webb has other opportunities to offer students. Between studying, attending or participating in sports events, and attending meetings students find time to relax. The campus offers many activities for the relaxation process.

The campus itself offers many opportunities. The green in the middle can be used for games or just to sit and enjoy the sun. And when it snows it offers various ways to enjoy the snow; you can sled or build a snow-man, and join in a snow-ball fight.

There is also the campus center. This encompasses the game room, the cafeteria, and the new commuter's lounge. The game room has pool tables, ping-pong tables, and varied video games. The cafeteria is not only to eat in, but also for socializing. Almost everyone walks through the cafeteria doors at some time, so you can see all your friends. The commuter's lounge is a place for the commuting students to relax, socialize, or study.

The new renovations of the campus have provided more ways to enjoy it. There are more benches to sit on and visit or read your mail. There are also the swings, which are used by all students.

So while college is known for the academics, sports, and organizations, it offers other opportunities, the most important of which is the variety of ways to enjoy the campus and relax from the stress college can apply in between all the other aspects.

The green is a great place to meet people. (top)

Linda Rape and Trina Short find time to relax using the swings. (left)

Tennis and band are some activities that the freshmen girls have discovered. (right)

Socializing is a great way to spend an afternoon.

Commuters help to prepare their own lounge.

Receiving letters can be the highlight of any day.

Changes seemed to occur everywhere, but a new entrance to Decker?

Video games are a must in the Dover Campus Center.

Concentration can actually occur outside of the classroom.

The winter snows make the cold much more bearable.

The front of the Student Center can accommodate studying.

Eating in the cafeteria may not always be fun, but it is a necessity.

A TIME FOR

Homecoming was a week full of anticipation and excitement. Many fun activities filled the week. On Monday it started with an ice cream social. A mini-dance was held outside Dover Campus Center on Tuesday. On Wednesday there was a skating party at Kate's. The movie "Overboard" was held in Bost Gym on Thursday night. On Friday night "Puttin on the Hits" enticed the Dover Theater. Finally, Saturday the big day arrived. It all started with a parade down Main Street in Boiling Springs with the Homecoming attendants and class floats. During half-time, Mary Beth Searcy, our new queen, was crowned. To end this spectacular day, a dance was held in the Bost Gym featuring the band North Tower. Everyone will always remember the Homecoming '88.

Bruce Benson fires a bullet.

Scott Lawlar is a senior English major from Florida. He is twenty-two years of age. He chose English because it was something he enjoyed in his earlier education. By studying English, he says, one can become a well-rounded person. English ties in with all manners of life. One uses English no matter what subject one chooses for a major. Scott upon graduation hopes to be able to teach. He wants to teach at the secondary level. At a later time in his life he hopes to proceed with his education and attend a graduate school. Scott has overcome many hurdles because of his blindness, but he does not think of it as a severe disadvantage. He states that the only hindrance was in doing research because he needed a reader to find the material.

Melissa Brown is a double major in English and French. She is from Boiling Springs and is twenty-one years of age. She chose French as her major because the Foreign Language Department is very strong at Gardner-Webb. She was also interested in the foreign culture.

Melissa is active on campus, serving as co-editor of the student newspaper, Reflections editor, and staff member at the Development House. Her interests are diverse. She also spent six weeks in Canada at Quebec attending classes at Trois-Riveria. She also has gone with a Gardner-Webb group to France. Upon graduation, Melissa will go on to a graduate school. She has applied to Chapel Hill, The University of Georgia, and at Tulane. Melissa has taught in some of the lower level French labs.

Tiffany Lynn Davis, a communication studies graduate, originally planned to major in psychology, but after looking at several other vocations she chose to go after a career in the television field. She says that the greatest help she received in gaining her degree was help from her professors. However, she wishes that she could have had more high quality equipment with which to work but is optimistic that the college will invest more in the years to come. During her senior year, Tiffany had the chance to be co-host of the new promotional film of Gardner-Webb, which she said gave her a greater understanding of the film and television industry.

Bettina Suzanne Long is a Liberal Arts major from Meredith, New Hampshire. The liberal arts program was just being formed when she was a freshman, so she decided to be a "guinea pig." She feels the major has given her a broad overview of different types of subjects. After graduation, Bettina would like to start out in retail and, in her own words, "progress into anything legal that allows me to make a great deal of money." The Gardner-Webb faculty has been a source of support for Bettina, and she feels she has learned as much by just having fun at Gardner-Webb as she has in the classroom.

Shawm Medlin is a senior Physical Education major from Marshville, North Carolina, and is twenty-one years of age. Her love of sports and athletics led in her choosing her major. Through her major, she will be able to enjoy these activities for the rest of her life. Shawm states that the Physical Education Department is one of the best at Gardner-Webb. The professors are always willing to help in all areas, even with personal problems. Shawm gives special credit to her advisor, Dr. Dee Hunt. Shawm enjoys all sports, but she especially enjoys swimming, biking, and running. By combining these sports she is able to participate in triathlons in the summers. Upon graduation, Shawm will either pursue her master's degree or begin teaching. She is also in hopes of attaining a position on a cycling team. Shawm gives credit for her success to her parents, friends, and her professors for helping her over this hurdle of life.

Joan Roberta Fritts is a Religious Education major from Thomasville, NC. She chose this major after working as a youth director in the summer of 1987, and she feels this major will train her in meeting the needs of young people. Joan is a "people person" who tries to be aware of others and their needs, and her future plans include ways she can be of service to others. She plans to attend Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, after which she wants to work with teenagers either in counseling or as a minister of youth. She also desires to pursue short term missions and possibly teaching at the college or seminary level.

TIME AFTER TIME, SGA WORKS FOR PRODUCTIVE CHANGE

Student Government provides many services for the student body at Gardner-Webb. They oversee the dances, provide movies, and help in the governing of the students. They update and revise certain laws. Senate has worked diligently to provide changes in the strict visitation policies and to increase the open dorm hours. Under the leadership of Tracy Jessup, more lines of communication have been established, including frequent meetings with administrative officials and a letter from the president in every issue of The Pilot.

CONCERT CHOIR TOURS EUROPE

The Gardner-Webb Concert Choir arrived at their Paris, France, "abode" approximately 11:00 p.m. Friday, May 27. Choir members had their own ideas about our "abode" (which was to be our home for the next four nights).

Saturday, May 28, we went on a sightseeing tour of Paris. We saw the Arc de Triomphe, Sacre Coeur, the Eiffel Tower, and Notre Dame. At 6:30 p.m. the choir was off to Eglise Evangelige Baptiste Church where they arrived in style with a police escort.

Tuesday, May 31, the choir departed for Luxembourg. Enroute the choir stopped at the Reims Cathedral to perform.

Wednesday, June 1, the choir left for a tour of Beethoven's home in Germany. The men's chorus performed Beethoven's "Zartliche Liebe" on the steps of his birthplace.

The choir gave their last performance at the Lisse Baptist Church. For many of the seniors, this was very sad. This would be their last performance ever as a member of the Gardner-Webb College Concert Choir.

The choir left Amsterdam at 5:30 a.m. for America and arrived at the Charlotte airport 23 hours later where a group of over 100 parents, relatives, and friends awaited the arrival of Pan Am flight 589.

GARDNER-WEBB FOOTBALL

CATCH IT!

The 1988 Football season got off to a slow start compared to the 1987 season. The 1987 SAC-8 Champs tied their first game against Knoxville and lost the next two to Newberry and Appalachian State. What was thought to be the team to repeat last years season turned into a nightmare. The Fightin' Bulldogs got back on track at Homecoming with a win against Wingate only to get back on a three game losing streak against Lenoir-Rhyne, Catawba, and Carson-Newman. It was hope for the Bulldogs to end up with a 5-5-1 season, but they had to win their last four games. They won three of the four leaving them with a 4-6-1 record. The Bulldogs are losing a lot of key players. They will be losing quarterback Bruce Benson, wide receivers Frank Cunningham and Kelvin Richardson, Thurman Leach, Mark Muller, Bill Henson, Curt Pressley, Eric Brewton, Randy Acevedo, Steve Emory, Mark Kimel, David Sumpter, Mike Pondo, Jim Steel, and Todd Mullinax. They are leaving the Bulldogs with room for improvement.

CHEERLEADERS: BOOSTING OUR MORAL

What would our sports be without our cheerleaders? Their job is to lower the moral of the other team and boost ours. Sometimes they leave us breathless with a dangerous stunt. When the action of a game becomes less interesting, our cheerleaders try to get the crowd going with a routine they rehearsed. Cheerleaders have always made a sport more interesting and enjoyable.

It was a year to set a firm foundation for the new soccer program. Although it did not show up on the scoreboards, the Gardner-Webb Runnin' Bulldog soccer team established a firm base that will be built upon next year.

Finishing with a 3-18 record is no fun, but it is not unusual for a fresh team. The many challenges for next season will be faced with courage and skill. New recruits Jorge Lopez and Sean Carswell will add strength and depth to the team.

Of his twelve freshmen and seven sophomores, Tony Setzer (the first-year coach) says, "We had a very young team. A youthful and inexperienced Gardner-Webb faced some seasoned opponents during the fall campaign."

Coach Setzer and his rapidly expanding program can be counted on for many exciting moments of soccer next season.

Coach Bill Naylor and his men's team are looking forward to a great year in '88 with three returning players including last year's number one player, Per Albertsson from Stockholm, Sweden.

Recruiting went well for Coach Naylor as he begins the year with five impressive freshmen. Oscar Blacutt, from La Paz, Bolivia, was a member of the 1988 Bolivia Davis Cup team and is a sure asset. Other freshmen include Kevin Scott, three-time Pennsylvania, state champion, Mitch Adams, number one player at East Rutherford High School, Tim Hahn, from Frederick, Maryland, and David Ratchford, from Fairfax, Virginia.

The tennis team shows real promise for the '89 season and seasons to come.

THE BEST OF THE BEST

The Runnin' Bulldogs got off to a tremendous start in the '88-'89 season with an impressive 11-4 record as of the end of January. Led by seniors Stan Easterling and Donald Simmons, the Bulldogs were out to win.

The team saw many new faces emerge with 11 new members including Blease Young and Thomas Turner, two transfers who can provide some height inside.

Other new faces seeing some playing time for Coach Wiles are Patrick Colson, Tony Dill, Rodney Lindsey, and Chris Thomas.

With a young team that is looking as tough as the Bulldogs are, Coach Wiles has much to look forward to in the remaining part of the season and way into next year. This time it's our time. We will not be denied.

RUN WITH THE "BEST"

With a 15-4 record, the Women Runnin' Bulldogs are off to one of their best starts. Not only are they a young team, they have a new head coach, Mr. Bud Black. Led by senior Kim Haywood and junior Benita Tilley, the ladies are looking for great things.

New faces for the women seeing action include freshman Fredia Lawrence, an outstanding guard, and Hattie Young, a 6'3" freshman with tremendous ability.

The future looks great for the Women Runnin' Bulldogs with 13 freshmen on the 17 lady squad. Things can only get better from here.

Third (L-R) Kim Tobin, Rhonda Edwards, Karen Kidd, Michelle Newman, Jenny Riddle, Susan Moore, Kim Haywood.

The volleyball team ended the '88 season with a disappointing record. But there is promise in the future, as the Women Bulldogs will have nine ladies returning next year.

The team was led this year by junior Benita Tilley, senior Lara Sellers, and senior Kim Haywood.

Freshmen showing a lot of promise include Sandy Basinger, Kim Tobin, and Melanie Ward.

Dr. Dee Hunt is hoping to recruit more talent and increase the potential of the team for the next few years.

STUDENT LIFE

Student Development and Advising.

Dr. Richard Franklin is serving at Gardner-Webb College as the new Vice-President of Student Development.

Among his changes is a reorganization of the whole student development department and the addition of new positions. Some of the facilities at Gardner-Webb have been upgraded, swings added for the students' enjoyment, and Dover Campus Center looks much better inside and out.

Dean Franklin is putting his best foot forward and giving the Student Development division stature. He feels Gardner-Webb should be a total educational experience for the students. In order for this to take place the judicial process of the college has been revised, many minimum penalties were set up for student discipline, and Gardner-Webb has a new reception center for guests and prospective students. He has added a Director for Freshmen Programs to assist new students.

Melvin Lutz heads up a new, separate Advising Center, dedicated to improving academic advising and to providing career planning services. Mr. Lutz and his staff — Mr. Ashley, Ms. Kiser, and Mr. Hamrick — stand ready to assist students in these important areas.

Chaos and the After-Math

Registration at Gardner-Webb is something we all must go through at the beginning of each semester. It can be a breeze if you have pre-registered and paid all your bills, but if that has not been done, life can get rough! The line can get congested because of those who just can't make up their minds, and instead of seeing all those professors and students doing paper work, a jungle will appear! You must begin to search for the long lost money that you have already paid, but is nowhere to be found, or you have to try to find the professors whose signatures you need for your drop-adds. (At times it seems that every professor has to sign them!) It will feel as though it will never end, and no relief is in sight. Your anxiety will grow and you will wish that you would have accepted your schedule the first time around, but soon it will end. After all your hard work, running around, and worrying, things do come to an end. They wish you luck, slap on that meal sticker and send you on your way for another wonderful and exciting semester at Gardner-Webb.

Here's Looking At GWC

A few students, faculty and staff returned early from Fall Break to start the wheels turning on a project very important to Gardner-Webb College. This project was a promotional film designed to show prospective students what life here at GWC is really like.

From October 25 to October 31, students were videotaped in several situations such as walking to class, studying, and taking part in sports. All the different shots were combined into a videotape with a PM Magazine-type format. The two student hosts were Tiffany Davis and Todd Smith, who narrated as overview of the college. Also included was a music video section that highlighted parts of the college.

Mr. John Brock, visiting professor in communications and director of public events for the college, served as executive producer for the project. Ron Cook and Jerry Loughlin of Cook/Loughlin and Associates Inc. of Charlotte donated their time as Associate Producer and Director respectively. Mr. Brock's assistant, Janet Roebuck, worked at getting the students and faculty at the right place at the right time.

Students from the Communication Studies Department got a lot of experience helping out with the film. Melissa Whitlow served as production assistant during the planning stages. During the actual videotaping, she served as the script supervisor. Kim Harris and Kathie Burgin also worked in several capacities such as assisting Janet Roebuck and serving as grips. When Tiffany Davis was not busy hosting, she also helped in these capacities. The hands-on training was very valuable to these students.

The film will be used to let people know what Gardner-Webb is truly about. Like the theme of the film says, "Gardner-Webb is a people place."

Time for Play

Although college is a busy time, students need a time to relax. The SCB sees that the students are able to accomplish this feat. Some of these activities are popular; others are not. But all provide a way to relax. There were dances, movies, forums, and concerts. Some dances were hosted by a DJ and at others the music was provided by a band. One of these bands even appeared on Star Search. The movies ranged from oldies to some very recent releases. The forums have been on Alcohol Awareness, and a debate between a Democrat and a Republican party representatives. The concerts were by contemporary Christian bands.

These events were fun and a good way to promote fellowship among the students. These provided a way to mingle with other students that one would normally never encounter. We enjoyed these events and learned to RELAX.

The College Reaches for the Sky

On November 19, 1988, Gardner-Webb College took a giant step forward by breaking ground for the Craven E. Williams Observatory. The $107,000 project will be used to house the college's collection of telescopes and provide classroom and meeting space. It will be the only observatory in the area, and the equal of any in western North Carolina.

Craven Williams breaks ground for the observatory that will bear his name.

The observatory is being named after former Gardner-Webb president, Dr. Craven E. Williams, who broke ground for the facility. It will be over 1700-square feet with an observation pad, a domed room, a classroom, a faculty office and storage rooms. The observatory will be used to enhance the college's offerings in the area of astronomy, provide faculty research facilities, and facilities for local public schools and groups.

Housed in the observatory will be the college's collection of five telescopes, donated to the school by Dr.James Herman. The domed room will be used to house two large motor driven telescopes which will be used to view deep space. The other three telescopes are portable and can be used outside the observatory or on the observation pad.

The observatory will be located along Stadium Drive, near the baseball and soccer fields. Funding for the observatory was provided by a $43,000 grant from the Janirve Foundation of Asheville and through local donors. The expected completion date is Fall, 1989.

GWC Artists Shine

Several of GWC's finest art students displayed some of their works at Cleveland Community College during the month of October. The works were created by students in Susan Bell's advanced and basic studio art classes.

Students presenting works from the basic class were: Tommy Ferrell, Cora Lambert, Robyn Lindsay, Shana McNeil, Craig Megilli, Amy Stewart, Sumi Watanabe, Johnny Waters, David Workman, and Tim Williams. From the advanced studio art class, Melissa Brown, Janet Berry, Billie Dixon, Craig Lewis, Jill Naumann, and Paula Spangler had works on display.

According to Bell, the exhibit shows that the Art Department is growing. The department now offers courses in studio art, black and white, color, and 3-D design including pottery and ceramics.

Johnny Waters and Robyn Lindsay admire one of the works on display.

CHOW TIME

A lively mealtime discussion.

Breakfast, lunch and dinner — at least one of these times we are going to be caught in the west end of the campus center. Anyway, the place is good for meeting your friends and making you appreciate homecooking.

Dramatic Performance — Exciting,

The season ended last year with a private awards ceremony and banquet. Missy Whitlow, Debbie Cravey, Mandy Thomas, Kevin Harbarugh, L.A. Smith, "Flounder" Lewis, and Dr. Boan were the big winners.

This year's offerings began with a side-splitting rendition of Shue's The Nerd. John Brock continues to bring variety and quality to the GWC stage and to involve students, staff, and community in cooperative exchange. Barry Whitfield continues to provide startlingly good sets and lighting.

Henry enters as The Nerd from the Black Lagoon.

Interesting candidate names for the title role appeared mysteriously on the campus poster.

Cast members include Barry Martin, Jim Roebuck, Becky Reger, Ren Chaskelis, Robert Harrelson, Craig Alexander, and Henry Styron. Supporting behind the scenes were Katy Winkler, Shawn Lewis, Joe Hough, Lisa Sabbarth, and "Chad."

Entertaining, Educational, Emotional

Administrative Officers and Staff

THE ADMINISTRATIVE TEAM CHOOSES THIS TIME TO ACCELERATE THE ACTION.

Dr. Chris White spends time at the desk developing plans for fund-raising and for coordinating the efforts of the other administrators. His goal is to guide Gardner-Webb toward a distinguished future, and recent improvements in the physical environment of the campus show that he knows no time like the present for getting things done.

In the short time that he has been President, he has directed renovation, reorganization, the addition of a new administrative team, increased financial security, and expanded the student body. Businesslike in his manner and brief in his replies, Dr. White's actions indicate that he believes that we are an institution whose time has come.

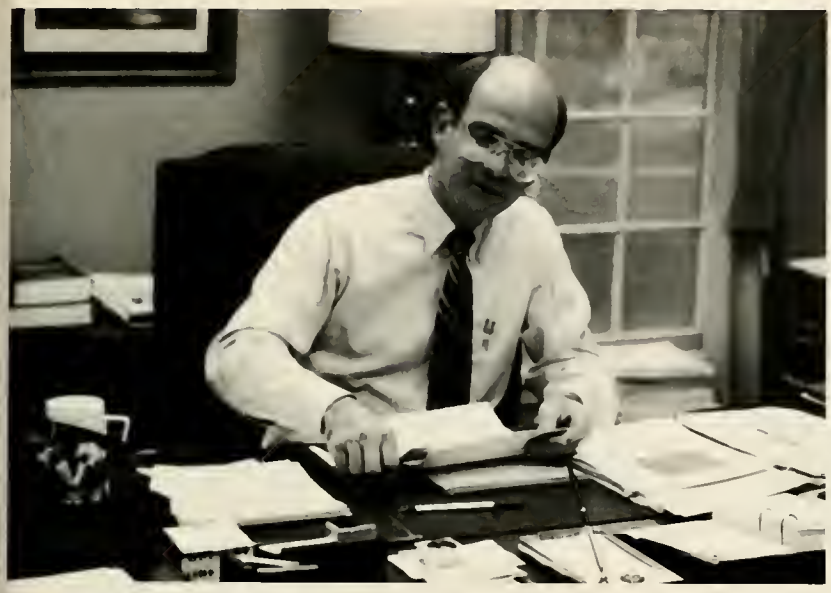
Jack Folk assists the President in hundreds of activities and events, a little nervous but highly energetic.

Kitty Eeds keeps everything ordered and clam, occasionally engaging in an elaborate scheme to "roast" a colleague or two.



Dr. Frank Bonner prides himself on an orderly desk (it reduces the number of cartoons in the campus newspaper). That order is quite an accomplishment when one considers that the whole academic program is in his hands, from budgets to registration to student/faculty appeals. Managing the daily details is a task in itself, but he has succeeded in bringing energy, vigor, and optimism to the program. Early in the second term, Dr. Bonner and the faculty began a curriculum review that has great promise. Dr. Bonner's patient leadership and concern are recognized and appreciated by students, faculty, and staff.

Recently aboard, Mr. Dixon guides development efforts (right).

Donnie Clary (above) provides leadership and insight for the financial management of the institution. He works well with faculty and staff and (fortunately) works much faster than he talks.

English Language and Literature

The English Department of Gardner-Webb is equipped with the faculty and knowledge to provide each student with the necessary understanding of English and Literature. Freshman Composition is taught at the level that all can comprehend. The students learn how language is a part of their lives through studies of expression and by being required to write a great many essays.

There is also an extensive study of literature and such authors as Milton and Shakespeare inform the students of the importance of thoughts and ideas in an interesting format.

The Fine Arts Department of Gardner-Webb College provides a variety of artistic aspects from music education to concentrations in voice or piano. The music department can be considered one of the toughest majors. The O. Max Gardner Memorial building becomes a place of rigorous practices and a second home on the campus for the music majors. Through programs such as concert choir and band, music is expressed thoroughly and the program produces capable people.

Foreign Language and Literature

DR. CHARLES ANDREWS, CHAIR

French and Spanish are the two majors offered by the Foreign Languages Department with teaching certificates available. Greek is also offered to students who have chosen to pursue a career in the religious field.

Computers are used in aiding the students in doing outside assignments by providing "self tests" to check what they know. These computers are located in the library and are available during all regular hours of the library.

Each fall break, Dr. Andrews and Dr. Morgan take a group of students to Canada to tour Quebec City and Montreal to provide personal experience in French culture. They also take a group to Paris, France, at the end of each year. These trips are in preparation for a program offered at the University of Quebec in Three Rivers, Canada that is a total immersion into French language and culture.

Operating from the Noel House, the Program for the Hearing and Visually Impaired offers a helpful mediator between the handicapped students and the faculty and staff of Gardner-Webb. Yet, at times, the "normal" are the handicapped. The handicapped program attempts to bridge any gaps that are formed.

Health/PE

DR. ROBERT BLACKBURN

DR. GARY CHANDLER

NELL S. GRIGGS

Physical fitness is a fad that has developed into a way of life for many people. The Physical Education department has set a goal to try to train the fit to teach tomorrow. They are succeeding. Physical Education is not only being made so that the students can learn; it is also being made to be fun. By combining swimming, running, and other activities, the students, both PE majors and freshman required to take a PE, can sample a variety of healthy but fun ways to stay in shape.

The Health Education is considered by most to be an elective, but it can be both an interesting and a challenging class.

Physical Education and Health Education can both be fun and educational. The staff here at Gardner-Webb do a good job preparing the PE and health educators of tomorrow in today's classroom.

Mathematical Sciences

A. MELTON BLACK

LIBBY CARSWELL

The Math Department is by far one of the toughest, yet most rewarding of the majors here at Gardner-Webb. The lost looks are a common characteristic of most Math majors, but these looks are soon dispelled by the competent professors who will go out of their way to explain problems and help the poor souls to find solutions to their problems. They not only teach formulas and theorems but they try to explain techniques and theory behind the ideas. The math Department is a good example of the closeness of the faculty on the campus. A hard major, but worth the rewards and friends made.

Biology, chemistry, and other seemingly impossible courses are taught in the Withrow Science Building. In fact, that is where you will find all of the scientificologies. The Natural Sciences Department provides lectures as well as laboratory experiences, field trips and other outside learning experiences which help the students to develop skills that will make them the future leaders in education, medicine, and basic research. The classes are difficult, but the profession is, too. Dedicated students are rewarded with satisfaction with their jobs and fulfillment of their goals.

Psychology

The Department of Psychology at Gardner-Webb is a small, but important part of academic life. To survive in everyday life, you need an understanding of human behavior and emotions. The Department provides seminars on human behavior as well as child psychology and crisis intervention to aid the students in understanding and surviving in the outside world. The faculty is always ready to lend a hand to a student in need, or even a sympathetic ear if things get too hard to handle.

DR. R. LOGAN CARSON

DR. ALICE CULLINAN

DR. ROBERT LAMB, CHAIR

Religious Studies

Rooted in the Christian tradition of Gardner-Webb College, the Religion Department offers a diverse course of study. It teaches the fundamentals to the average student and goes into a deeper level of study for those who have accepted the calling. The professors teach formally in the classroom, but they can also be found for discussions of any seemingly difficult problem. They may not always have all the answers, but it is comforting to know that there will always be someone there to listen and pray with you.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

DR. GILMER BLACKBURN

DR. RUDEE BOAN

The Social Science Department offers courses in sociology, history, political science, and economics. The professors show a genuine concern for each student as well as for the college. The classes are set up to teach the basics as well as prepare social science majors for the future they will face.

Sandy Stillwell takes a break to smile at the camera.

Henry Weathers enjoys a Coke at the Pub House.

There is a time for everything,
and a season for every activity under heaven:
a time to be born and a time to die,
a time to plant and a time to uproot,
a time to kill and a time to heal,
a time to tear down and a time to build,
a time to weep and a time to laugh,
a time to mourn and a time to dance,
a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them,
a time to embrace and a time to refrain,
a time to search and a time to give up,
a time to keep and a time to throw away,
a time to tear and a time to mend,
a time to be silent and a time to speak,
a time to love and a time to hate,
a time for war and a time for peace.

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8
